The three-day hockey extravaganza will feature the host Concordia Stingers, their cross-town rivals the McGill Redmen, the Quebec league leading Ottawa Gee-Gees, Moncton's Screaming Eagles who are ranked second in Canada right now, the division I Northern Arizona University Lumberjacks and from Schenectady New York the Union College Dutchmen.

On Saturday, January 4, the Union Dutchmen will meet the Ottawa Gee-Gees at 12:30 P.M., Moncton will take on McGill at 3:30 P.M. and Concordia will challenge Northern Arizona.

On Sunday, January 5, the Moncton Screaming Eagles who are ranked second in Canada, will take on the Ottawa Gee-Gees, the third ranked Canadian team. It should be one of the most exciting match-ups in the tournament. That game will be played at 12:30 P.M. McGill will take on Northern Arizona at 3:30 P.M. and Concordia will round out the day by meeting the Union Dutchmen at 7:30 P.M.

The two teams with the best records will advance to the championship game on Monday, January 6 at 7:30 P.M.

At the two previous Micron Tournaments, the host Stingers advanced to the final game. Both championship contests went into double overtime (1985 vs. Toronto and 1984 vs. Saskatchewan). The Stingers lost both games but on both occasions the Stingers were at their best and hockey fans were treated to some of the best hockey ever.
